

NNN Conference 2021: Workshop Submission Form

A downloadable pdf version of the questions can be downloaded on the NNN Website. Please make sure to read through the notes below before submitting your proposal.

A selection committee will consider proposed workshop topics. Those that most closely align with the NNN Conference theme - Enabling a Paradigm Shift to a Country-Led Response to Deliver the NTD Road Map - and the strategic objectives of the NNN will have the strongest chance of selection.

The committee will select proposals using these criteria:

1. Relevance to multiple NTDs: the workshop should provide learning relevant to multiple NTDs; disease specific workshops and presentations should be framed explicitly to enable lessons to be drawn for other diseases.
2. Clear objectives: the proposal should have clear learning objectives and demonstrate how the structure of the workshop will achieve those.
3. Quality of proposal: the proposal should include a clear background on the issue/s to be discussed, rationale for conducting a workshop including how the workshop will build on previous discussions, and explanation on how the workshop conclusions will be followed up by the organisers.
4. Interaction and participation: The workshop should be structured to encourage audience participation. Workshops containing only presentations or panels are less likely to be selected. Given the format will be virtual, innovative approaches to elicit participation in this context are most welcome.
5. Diversity of speakers/facilitators/panels: The workshop should involve a range of participants across multiple organisations including speakers from endemic countries, across genders, or persons affected by NTDs.

Whilst there are no limits to the number of workshops you can propose, during the submission process we will ask you to prioritise your submissions to maximise the number of individuals & organisations able to host a workshop. - Please note that all participants in your workshop, including any speakers, moderators and rapporteurs must register with to have access to the NNN Conference rooms, and therefore participate in the workshop.

- Workshop submissions must be sent no later than FRIDAY, JUNE 11TH

- Successful workshop proposals will be notified by email by FRIDAY, JULY 9TH

- Once successful applicants have been notified, they will be sent an editable Google document to develop and complete for both their Workshop Logistics and Workshop Agenda. We ask that this is completed in time for the information to be uploaded onto the system by Friday, July 30th 2021

- A secondary deadline of Friday, August 27th 2021 for selected submissions will give you four weeks to check the online platform, finalise your speakers and make any final amendments before the information is taken for the posters that will be produced for your workshop.

Please provide the name and contact details of the person leading the workshop.

This individual will be the selection committee and events' team's point of contact for logistical information. The Workshop Lead will also be responsible for the coordination of speakers, moderators and rapporteurs for the workshop, including the submission of the session's poster before the conference. Templates for session posters will be shared Workshop Leads of selected proposals.
